

WHAT IS IAFFE?

The International Association for Feminist Economics (IAFFE) is a nonprofit organization devoted to expanding understanding of economic issues important to the well being and empowerment of women, children, and men worldwide.

Areas of focus include gender equality in employment and resources, government macroeconomic and budgeting policies, gender relations and care-work, gender perspectives on health and education, social protection and food security, migration, trade, and other related topics.

Founded in 1992, IAFFE promotes collaboration among researchers, activists, and policy-makers to improve human lives through scholarly research, advocacy, and policy change.

BE PART OF THE CHANGE.
JOIN TODAY AT WWW.IAFFE.ORG.

JOIN IAFFE

You may join online at www.iaffe.org/members/join.php.

Or, download a membership form and mail it to the main office. Rates are based on a sliding scale.

IAFFE Main Office:

International Association for Feminist Economics
 Department of Agricultural Economics
 208A Filley Hall, East Campus
 University of Nebraska-Lincoln
 Lincoln, NE 68588-0400
www.iaffe.org

Follow us on twitter and facebook.

IAFFE

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION
 FOR FEMINIST ECONOMICS

THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR FEMINIST ECONOMICS

IAFFE MEMBERSHIP OFFERS

AN INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

The IAFFE international conference comprises a vibrant and supportive community of feminist scholars and activists.

The family-friendly conference rotates annually, welcoming all members into a worldwide network for dialogue and collaboration on research and publications.

"Vibraciones", by Josefina Robirosa
IAFFE's Annual Conference
Buenos Aires, 2010

A FORUM FOR PUBLISHING

IAFFE's journal, Feminist Economics, offers gender-aware and inclusive economic inquiry and policy analysis. The aim is to advance human well being in local, national, and trans-national communities. IAFFE and Feminist Economics provide needed space for varied theoretical perspectives.

"Feminist Economics has become, with remarkable speed, a leading journal in economics, vastly enriching the understanding of important issues."

Amartya Sen
Nobel Prize for Economics 1998
Harvard University, USA

SUPPORT FOR EMERGING SCHOLARS

IAFFE is dedicated to supporting young researchers, especially from the Global South, and providing them opportunities to participate fully in IAFFE activities. IAFFE raises money each year to fund travel grants that enable emerging scholars to attend the annual conference. Mentoring, opportunities to publish, and inclusion on ad hoc committees are IAFFE priorities.

For more information, see www.iaffe.org.

Photos by Günseli Berik, Ebru Kongar, Lynda Pickbourn, Lauren Richardson (cover), Rosalba Todaro, UN Women/Catianne Tijerina, Poul Wisborg, and Yumiko Yamamoto.

WHAT CAN YOU CONTRIBUTE TO IAFFE?

IAFFE is a member-run organization. As a member, you may

Review articles for Feminist Economics

Submit articles to the IAFFE blog and Feminist Economics

Organize sessions for the annual international conference

Present a paper at the conference

Serve on ad hoc committees

Have your book celebrated at the annual conference

Run for the IAFFE Board of Directors

Serve as a mentor to junior scholars

Help with IAFFE projects in your own country

